I AM

I'm a Frontend Developer & Manager with 5+ years of experience building modern web applications. My core stack revolves around React.js, JavaScript, HTML, and CSS — but over the years I've expanded into Node.js, Firebase, SQL databases, and full-stack project delivery.

I care deeply about clean code, performance, and user experience. I don't just follow trends — I evaluate them, adopt what adds real value, and apply them where they matter most.

BUSINESS COMPETENCIES

I approach every project with a clear structure: understand the requirements first, then build — not the other way around. I ask the right questions early to avoid costly changes later.

I work comfortably across the full development cycle — from collaborating with designers on UI decisions to coordinating with backend teams on API contracts. I don't wait to be told what to do at each stage; I take ownership and move things forward.

I write code with maintainability in mind. Whether it's a small component or a large-scale application, I think about the next developer who will read it — or the future version of myself.

After delivery, I don't disappear. I handle client onboarding, train users on internal panels, and make sure Google Analytics and Search Console are properly configured before I consider a project done.

I'm used to working under pressure, managing multiple tasks in parallel, and communicating clearly when priorities shift. In short: I ship things, I take responsibility, and I keep people in the loop.

PROJECTS

A selection of web projects delivered since 2020, ranging from corporate websites to full-stack applications. I started with HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and jQuery — and have been building primarily with React.js for the past two years, extending into full-stack development with Node.js and MySQL.
